California, Here Comes NAALJ!

The National Association of Administrative Law Judiciary and the Pepperdine University School of Law invite you to attend the NAALJ 2010 Annual Conference and Meeting: Excellence in Administrative Justice: Delivering Due Process. The Conference begins with a reception Sunday evening, October 10th, at the Law School. The educational program begins Monday, October 11 and ends Wednesday, October 13.

The registration fee includes all programs and materials, breakfast, lunch, Sunday night reception and the Wednesday night Silent Auction and Banquet.

Conference Programming

Programming will include valuable instruction and provocative presentations for administrative adjudicators across all jurisdictions, agencies, and settings. It includes:

- A full day of instruction in judicial writing by LAWriters chief instructor.
- A full day of seminars on neurological subjects: How the Brain Works; Memory And Deception; The Neuroscience of Substance Dependence; Interaction of Culture and the Brain; and Brain Injury, Disability, Recovery and Assessment.
- Goldberg v. Kelly: Casting a Long Shadow after 40 Years
- Cognitive Bias and Judicial Decision-Making
- Special Education topics: "How and Why Do You Apply the Sufficiency Standard?" and "To Ask or Not to Ask-What is Your Job as a Hearing Officer?"
- Assessing Witness Credibility
- Best Practices for Conducting Hearings Electronically
- Best Practices for Hearings With Self-Represented Litigants
- An Overview of International Courts
- A Snapshot of Administrative Adjudication in Other Countries

Optional Events

Plan to join your colleagues at the following optional events: Monday night dinner at a private, ocean-front room at Duke's Malibu, a local institution featuring the Barefoot Bar and delicious Hawaiian-inspired cuisine; a Tuesday evening trip to Santa Monica, including dinner at Mariasol, a Mexican restaurant on the end of the Pier; a Thursday afternoon group tour of the Getty Villa, a unique museum featuring a collection of antiquities in a specially designed Roman style villa; and, by special request, also on Thursday afternoon, a surfing safari! A group lesson, including equipment, will provide an unforgettable experience for all those game enough to try that wonderful and challenging sport. All events include transportation.
