

STRAUS INSTITUTE FOR DISPUTE RESOLUTION 2017 SPRING COURSE SCHEDULE

NOTICES

ADVANCE ASSIGNMENTS FOR INTENSIVE COURSES

A class syllabus including any advance reading and/or writing assignments for intensive classes will be emailed to students 3-4 weeks prior to the start of class. Please note that it is each student's responsibility to review the syllabus well before the class begins and complete any advance assignments. Students who show up the first day unprepared risk being dropped from the class.

RESCHEDULING EXAMS

While most Straus classes will require a final paper instead of a final exam, it is important for everyone to be aware of the exam rescheduling policy in the event you enroll in one or more classes with a final exam. Students may not petition to reschedule a final exam unless two final exams are to be taken on the same day. Therefore, it is important for you to pay attention to the final exam schedule when you are selecting your courses. Petitions to change one of two exams scheduled for the same day must be filed by the seventh week of classes. For additional details concerning the law school final exam policies go to <http://law.pepperdine.edu/academics/policy/>.

EXTERNSHIP ENROLLMENT

Students cannot register for externships through WaveNet. All students are required to have their externship placement confirmed before they can register. Please submit an add/drop registration form <http://law.pepperdine.edu/academics/content/registration-adddrop.pdf> to Joanna Reese at joanna.reese@pepperdine.edu or fax to (310) 506-4437 together with the placement information form <http://law.pepperdine.edu/straus/content/4PlacementForm.pdf>. All externships should be completed within the semester registered unless prior permission has been granted for extended time. A full description of the externship requirements are available on our web site at: <http://law.pepperdine.edu/straus/academics/externships/>.

LL.M. INDEPENDENT STUDY ENROLLMENT

Students needing to enroll in a required LL.M. Independent Study Project need to speak with Professor Sarah Park prior to enrolling.

NEW COURSE:

Selected Issues in Dispute Resolution: Products Liability Law has been highlighted in recent years as one of the few areas of litigation where the use of arbitration is expanding rather than contracting. Mediation is also on the rise in products liability; approximately 59 percent of products liability cases went through mediation in 2011, compared to only 39 percent in 1997. The Supreme Court of the United States has been particularly active over the past decade in addressing ADR in the context of products liability, and its decisions have doubtless been influential in expanding the use of ADR in this field.

This course will focus on distinctive ADR issues related to this growing area of arbitration and mediation. Some examples of topics the course will address include the evolving enforceability of consumer arbitration agreements in a products liability context; policy implications of confidentiality agreements in settlements involving dangerous products or substances; how ADR issues might differ based on whether products liability claims are small and broad (such as a common defect in a consumer product that does not lead to personal injuries but that causes less significant harm to a large number of consumers) or large and more narrow (such as a major personal injury products liability claims that cause significant harm to few consumers); and international perspectives on the use of ADR in products liability lawsuits.

The course will likely include presentations by practicing attorneys in the field, and will include at least one simulation exercise. This will be a paper course with no final examination, and the course will satisfy the upper-division skills requirement and will count toward the experiential learning requirement.

Professor Richard Cupp is an internationally recognized authority on products liability law. An elected member of the American Law Institute and past chair of the Association of American Law Schools Section on Torts, he is a coauthor of a leading casebook on products liability. He has also published numerous scholarly and popular media articles addressing products liability issues.

NEW FACULTY:

Kathleen M. Whitby – Environmental and Public Policy Dispute Resolution

Kate is an attorney in the St. Louis office of Spencer Fane LLP, where she concentrates her practice in environmental law, real estate, dispute resolution, and complex litigation. She has almost thirty years of practical experience focused primarily on problem-solving for environmental contamination and cleanup projects, and works as a third-party neutral as well as a private practice attorney. She is admitted to practice in both Illinois and Missouri, as well as the St. Louis and southern Illinois U.S. District Courts. Kate serves as national counsel for a large telecommunications company on Superfund, RCRA, state Voluntary Cleanup Projects (VCP) and environmental real estate projects. She also represents corporations, lenders, landlords, small businesses, not-for-profits, and individuals faced with environmental disputes involving real property and other legal challenges. The former head of the Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) division for Clean Sites, Inc., a national non-profit dedicated to improved environmental stewardship and settlements, Kate was in the first group of neutrals approved for the National Roster of Environmental Dispute Resolution and Consensus Building Professionals prepared by the U.S. Institute of Environmental Conflict Resolution in Tucson, Arizona. She is on the list of approved neutrals for the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Missouri and for US Arbitration and Mediation – Midwest. Kate teaches Multi-Party Negotiation and Public Policy Dispute Resolution as an adjunct professor at Washington University School of Law in St. Louis, and is a frequent lecturer on environmental, real estate, and multi-party dispute resolution topics.
